HAVANA, Nov. 21, 1863. General Cobos , of the Franco-Mexican Army, Exens in Cuba-Spain and the United States-Progress in

It is quite probable you may have already received ews of the occupation of Brownsville, Texas, by the force which left New Orleans for that purpose ana, it will be just as well to transmit to you the given of that event in letters received from

At soon he issued a proclamation declaring himself for the intervention or reactionary party, to which he had always belonged, all in pursuance of previous arrangements.

On the following morning the Governor of the State (Tamaulipas), Don Monitel Ruiz, brigadier general, &c., appeared auddenly in Matamores at the head of some troops, seized Obos and his second, vila, and had them isstantily shot.

Then came the squabble for the local offices between the local factions here, and which have been constantly at war with each other, those prevailing who had been then out of office. The Governor, sone had been named by Prasident Juares, has had to fly the field, passing over to Brownsville, with others who feared for their lives. It is said that, this coup having been expected for several days, there were fire hundred men on the march. But it is not known what the other towns in the State will do, which for two years have taken an active part in the various questions. For and against Sence Serna, who is now Governor of Tamaulipas.

On the other hand, the federals, on coming to Brownsville, took possession of nearly all the houses, they being uncocupied, and quartered themselves. Yesterday they selved three steamers, the James Hale, Mustang and Matamoros, that two former were ongaged in the river trade, and the other that of the sea and bar. They were at the Mexican shore, and had the Mexican flag flying when taken. It is said, apparently with foundation, that the solvence were wend with the consent of the authorities. Three days previously they had aured the schooner Matamoros, which used to voyage between here and New York, and was anchored in Mexican waters.

Other revulsions are former quiet for six months. To day the state of the receive were the early of the French, an event considered unquestionable, and the ecoupation of the frontier by the federals. Merchants the active deep the sea for the authorities. Three days previously they had aured the schooner datum will be every cautions. For my part I do not belie revolution which frightened away Ruiz was French or simply factional. I believe, however, that it is of the former class, and that the town of Matameres will be oc-simply factional. I believe, however, that it is of the former class, and that the town of Matamoros will be occupied very soon, as the writer hints, by the Freuch force now encamped within thirty miles of the piace. What then? You will have fire and tow very close together, and the least thing may produce a terrible confiagration. We may have no news from Mexico before the next Reitina deamer from Vera Cruz arrives, for which we shall have to wait as patiently as possible for fully two wooks. The news will be highly interesting.

APPAIRS IN ST. DOMINGO.

For some weeks past we have had no news of any moment from St. Domingo. The formidable guerilla skirmishing appears to have dwindled down to the most insignificant proportions, and from all sides word comes that the war is virtually at an end. It may be possible that the insurgents are concentrating their forces at semispoint in the insountains, preparatory to making a great effort, and for that purpose have called in all their outlying guerilla parties; but I am inclined to believe that the Dominicans are alarmed at the prospect of a longer war than they bargained for, and that the large reinforcements sent from Spain, compared with their own very inferior available force, have shown them the bepelessness of the contest they are engaged in. The Spanish accounts confirm this view, and persist in stating that the armed bands in the interior are dispersing and returning to their homes.

Letters from officers in garrison at Puerto Plata unite for fixing the destruction of that town upon the insurgents, zool withstanding the statements made by persons representing the contest the such as don't time since, if, in the faqu of contradictory statements, we are justified in weight

The local news from the Bahamas is not of interest. A new steamer, evidently intended for blockade run-ning, had arrived at Nassau from Greenock. She is

They landed at Naesau and wharfed their cargoes there, and from this port the goods were taken into Wilmington by steam vessels, which run to and fro with great regularity, as will be seen from the following report:—
